CYNTHIANA. --- MARCH 10, 1870.

A. J. MOREY, EDITOR.

opinion of these men, if he was only going to give his own opinion of what they taught? Out of his own mouth he stands condemned in this matter.

According to the explanation by Mr. Skeezicks, Mr. Miller was only giving his opinion of what six of the thirteen authors, mentioned by him taught. He must have an excellent conception of his opinions to be thus voluntarily parading them before the public!

We are also to understand, when he said he had been giving "brief quotations from these authors," that he was merely giving summaries of their teachings as called for by him.

The only rational conclusion to which we can come from all this is that Mr. Miller does not always mean exactly what he says, especially when writing on the mode of baptizing. I am truly glad that the key to unlock many of the mysterious sayings of Mr. Miller has thus been furnished

We now know how to understand him when he says he can prove by authors in his library, the broad assertions he makes in his sermons.

Mr. Skeezicks is a very clever gentleman, and I am sorry for his sake that he has allowed Mr. Miller to make a fool of him. He has only exposed himself without benefiting his friends, unless they consider themselves benefited by having sprinkling traced to the practice of the heathens as they were instigated by the devil. He has evidently shown that he was writing on a subject which he did not understand.

I attribute his incorrect statements to his ignorance, and not to any intention of telling a wilful falsehood.

I have not written on this subject merely for the sake of "partisan triumph," but because truth, and justice to the long since dead Justin Martyr demanded it. I say that Justin teaches that only those who believed and repeated were baptized, and that they baptized away from the place where the brethren were assembled, and were baptized in the water and for the remission of past sins. So that his authority on the subject of baptism is altogether in favor of the teaching and practice of the Christian Church, and decidedly against the Methodist Church.

I will turn the writings of Justin to any one that wishes to examine this subject for themselves. All that he says on baptism can be read in ten minutes.

Mr. Skeezicks thinks great harm has been done by the baptism controversy. If this is true the advocates of sprinkling are the ones responsible for it. They admit that immersion is valid baptism. They ought therefore for the sake of peace to adopt it at once. If I believed that sprinkling was baptism I should certainly practice it to end the controversy, if for nothing else, and I believe that every man honest in the land would do the same. The people should understand that im-mersionists are not at all responsible for the controversy on baptism. The validity of what they teach and practice is admitted by all.

I shall not notice anything further from Mr. Skeezicks in defense of Mr.

Miller unless he furnishes something new. In that event I shall consider that I have a right to reply.

Respectfully, D. W. CASE.

IN GEORGIA.

A Negro Brutally Assaults the Wife of a Bishop.

Intelligence comes to us of a nature so terrible that we almost shrink from a recital of the horrid circumstances.

We are all the more reluctant to refer to the matter, because the name of a lady who is deeply beloved by our people, the wife of the gifted and good Bishop of Georgia, must be used. Thanks to a merciful

Providence she has been spared an unutterable shame, and is still the pure lovely woman who as the helpmate of the late pastor of Trinity Church of this city, made for herself hosts of warm and admiring friends.

On the evening of the 25 of January, it appears Mrs. Beckwith who had been spending the day with an invalid lady friend, living near her residence, was met by a powerful negro man, who just as she passed him, struck her almost senseless to the earth. Springing upon her, the fiend struck her repeatedly in the face, bruising her terribly. To check the cries of the noble woman, who struggled with all the energy of despair, he placed his closed hand partially in her mouth, but was forced to desist, she imbedded her teeth in the flesh. Through all the terrible encounter Mrs. Beckwith retained her presence of mind, telling

PRIMARY ELECTION.

Let it be remembered, by every Democrat, that Saturday, 2d day of April, next, is the day of the Primary Election, in Harrison county.

Radicalism.

The Cynthiana Democrat has always passed as a Kentucky democrat paper, and has been patronized as such. It was established here in Cynthiana by men who called themselves democrats, and we were under the impression that its present editor was a democrat also; but we find ourselves mistaken.

The very essence of democracy and the rights of the people will only be found in their unwavering adherence to the sovereignty of the State. In that is their protection, and that alone.

People who oppose the democracy do so mainly upon the question of the rights of the State, and that class of people are known and called Republican Radicals. They are the same class of people who have been punishing and persecuting the people of the South by unconstitutional enactments through Congress. It is by an application to Congress by Tennessee radicals that at least two thirds of the white conservative people are about to be disfranchised again, and the State thrown into a territorial condition, and for no other purpose than that of keeping a few carpet-baggers in bread and meat.

Our every right, personal and political is dependent upon our strict adherence to the rights of the States. The Cynthiana Democrat, in discussing the defeat of the Cincinnati and Chattanooga Railroad Charter, gives us the following:

"It remains now for the corporation TO APPLY TO CONGRESS FOR A CHARTER."

This is the same proposition that the radical papers of Cincinnati have been advocating from the beginning; and have declared that the Cincinnati corporation could get a much more liberal charter from Congress than from Kentucky, and why not go there; and if the people of Cincinnati wanted half of the county of Harrison, and our people did not want to sell out, as a matter of course according to the Democrat, Cincinnati should apply to Congress. This is radical.

The Democrat gives as more light on the same subject, as follows:

"They have done Kentucky all needful courtesy in presenting themselves to our legislature and patiently waiting their final action, while day after day their bill was being lopped and chipped to square with every demand reasonable or unreasonable, that was urged for the protection of the people of the State. We doubt not a more liberal charter can be obtained from Congress than was asked of our legislature, and for it WE VOTE AYE."

This is not Harrison democracy certain, and no other democracy—it is outright radicalism, and that too of the deepest dye.

The Cynthiana Democrat, says refer it to Congress. Our democracy teaches us that it should be referred to the people. They will elect men to the legislature who will vote for a charter.

Anson Burlingame.

Died recently at St. Petersburg, in Russia. He was something more than an ordinary man, and had worked his way from the ranks of people, to a position in the confidence of nations, which few if any have ever gained. He was a Northern man by nature and principle, and first rendered himself conspicuous in the Halls of Congress, and particularly so, in a small difficulty which he had with a Mr. Brooks, of South Carolina, whom he attempted to bully, but was invited to step out one side, in some sequestered spot, and look Brooks in the face, in the same manner in which one of the Kings of Israel to do. Mr. Burlingame, proposed to accept the proposition, provided Mr. Brooks would go with him into a foreign country. They never looked at each other. Afterwards, Burlingame was sent as a minister extraordinary to his exaltic highness, Emperor of all John Chinamen. At this Court he found great favor, and giving up his American citizenship, took the oath of allegiance to the Emperor, and was appointed representative to all the governments of the civilized world by the Chinese Court with a large salary, and was attending to the duties of his office at the Russian Court, when he died.

Southern Railroad.

The friends of this project have met with a defeat—the Legislature of Kentucky has refused to grant a charter to the Trustees of Cincinnati to build it through the Commonwealth of Kentucky. It was, in many respects, rather hard upon the counties through which it was intended to run this proposed road, for had the proposition succeeded it would have brought untold wealth and prosperity to their doors. The amount of light and knowledge which would have been gained for the people contiguous to the line would have compensated the State, and would have instilled into the heads and hearts of those people a new era. It is an indisputable truth, and one too, which must be seen by every observer of men and things, that is, that all enterprises must begin in the brain. How can it be expected that men will improve their Farms, their Stock, or their dwelling Houses, unless they are educated. Show us an improvement man, and we will point to an enterprising man, and to an educated, thinking, cogitating, careful, money-making man. His improvements, his enterprises, all began in his brain, and unless we have light and knowledge given the people, it will be the height of folly to undertake to change their ideas of living and doing business from that old style which was pursued by their Grandfathers.

We are in favor of enterprises and improvements, and the people of Harrison county are strongly favorable to propositions of that kind.

Within the past five years they have voted to tax the county to build Turnpikes.

They have voted to tax themselves to educate the rising generation.

That is quite a long step in the improvement direction, and its effects will be felt in every part of Harrison. The people of any country, in the world, who will build school houses, at every cross-roads, and place therein a school-teacher, and invite all to come and take a free drink at the "Pierian Spring," will raise in their midst, inside of ten years, a class of people that will rise up and bless them and bless the land, that had given them birth. They will become an educated, and as a matter of course a religious and law-abiding people. The enhancement in the value of property itself, where people of that kind dwell, will more than compensate and satisfy the tax-payer for money laid out.

A railroad running through any country must and will improve it, and our Legislature has done wrong in refusing a charter to the Cincinnati people. We are pleased to learn, however, that another effort will be made this winter, to have one granted. The people of Cincinnati should fight the devils with fire, if they desire to succeed.

Don't talk about going to Congress for a charter, for that is a regular radical proposition, and in direct opposition to Democratic State right principles. Congress has no more right to grant a charter to a railroad company to build a road through this State than we have—and when the power known as eminent domain, is taken from a State, that State has lost her sovereignty, and she might as well abolish her authorities, her laws, &c., and shut up shop. We know that the radical party is opposed to the Democracy on State rights—and we know too, that when the people's rights come in conflict with radical ideas of government, that the radicals trample them down in the dust immediately.

The people of Kentucky will grant any Railroad Company a charter when they are asked for one. If this Legislature refuses, let an appeal be made direct to the people, and we will wage our existence that one is granted. The action of the Legislature of our State, reminds us very much of an accident which happened to a very sensitive man. He fell from a pier into deep water, and went to the bottom, he arose again, and again went down and came back. Coming to the top of the water he opened his eyes and beheld a well-dressed gentleman with his arm extended and his hand open to him, requesting him to take it and he would save him from a watery grave. The drowning man looked up at his saviour rather indignantly and desired to know who he was, and what his intentions were, before he could consent to take his hand, and ere the explanation could be given the sensitive man sank never to rise again.

Congress and Cadetships.

This extraordinary body has at last posted, by some cause or other, to a conclusion which it is hoped will benefit the country. It has concluded that open political rascality shall not continue triumphant eternally and forever, and movements in the right direction have, for some weeks past, characterized its actions. Certain members of Congress, how many as yet is not known, have been guilty of selling Cadetships. They have received as far as we can learn, from $1,500 to $2,000 for the appointment, which is no mean sum for the place.

For fear that all of our readers are not posted as to the appointment to Cadetships, we will explain. Each Congressman is authorized according to Law, to appoint from his District, any worthy young man of good mind to a scholarship in West Point. The young man will be fed, clothed and schooled, at the expense of the Government. His education is a military one of the first order, and when the youth has graduated he generally receives an appointment in the Army, where if he has any snap in his physical system, he can soon rise in his profession. There is just at this time, a mania, for a military education. Men desire to give their boys that kind of training which will carry them to the highest position given by a crazy and fanatical people—for vipers with the smallest minds can see that the United States is drifting with its agrarian notions and principles already established, and its fanatical notions of equality, headlong into anarchy and bloodshed. Hence, they desire to have their boys posted as to the best mode of destroying the largest body of human beings in the shortest period of time. Furthermore, they know too well that brains are not requisite to become great, as the biggest numskull and blather skite at West Point can say to himself—"what is not within my reach?" Behold U. S. Grant, now President, never claimed or has ever been charged with having brains? West Point is the place now, and in that port certain families are harboring their boys.

This is the school which has been the means of bringing several members of Congress to grief, and we hope may bring more of them, provided they have been selling Cadetships out of their own districts, or in them. It is a cause of great humiliation to every honorable member of that body, to know that any have so far forgotten themselves, as to be guilty of an act not worthy to receive a moments thought, much less to actually commit. But we have been informed that acts much more disgusting and contemptible are transacted at the National Capital every day, and that if they were brought to light would throw the sale of Cadetships so far in the shade that they would be lost and overshadowed. Of course we have nothing of the truth of these statements. They may or may not be true.

We believe that there is much corruption and demoralization among politicians—men who make office-hunting and office holding a business. They think that every thing is fair in "Love and War," and as they believe they should always use money against their political enemies, they, many of them, have no scruples as to the manner in which they obtain it. Hence, many of them get into trouble.

A Counterfeit Bishop at Rome.
A Roman correspondent writes: "Some weeks since I sent an account of the arrest of a false bishop, who was incarcerated at Fort St. Angelo for his unauthorized assumption of episcopal vestments in order to be present at the secret deliberations of the Council. His personality has been at last discovered; he was not, as first supposed, a spy dispatched by Signor Visconti Venosta, the Italian Minister of Foreign Affairs, but simply the correspondent of a French newspaper, which has been for the past month very prolific in ecclesiastical indiscretion. How he procured his disguise is still a mystery, for the arrest of his tailor has turned out to be a myth; but at the Cafe de Rome they say he bought the credentials from the confidential and incorruptible secretary of an Oriental prelate, who was prevented by ill-health from appearing at the evangelical rendezvous. At all events, while the police was investigating his case, the prisoner disappeared, and gossips assert that the doors of his dungeon were opened by one of the keys which were bequeathed to Pius IX by St. Peter; in plain language, the Pope sent him his passports and gave him an escort of gendarmes to the frontier."

Roman Gospel.

Rome was always a place of scandal. In this it has had no parallel in Europe—not even in Florence. The Council so far was a God-send. Every letter from that city testifies to the ingenuity of the citizens. The French Bishops will not attend the reception at the French embassy because of the hall address of the ladies, and because of the light manner in which the staff speak of the dogma of infallibility; the Pope sends for particular Bishops and bullies them; a Bishop in the Council speaks disparagingly of St. Peter, and asked if his brethren can believe in the apostle's infallibility when his three denials of Christ took place after Christ himself had said to him, "Thou art Peter," &c.; the Papal Legion, who arrived full of chivalry, are disgusted to find they have nothing to do but follow processions, stand on guard before the churches, salute Cardinals and Bishops, and assist the police by nightly patrols; the French bayonets which keep down the most ordinary civil rights of the Romans are not to be depended on in presence of the possible charges in France; and a host of other details of the sort fill the letters of the correspondents.

The Season and its Dangers.

The human body is chiefly composed of tissues and fibres as sensitive to every change in the condition of the atmosphere as the most delicate electrometer, or the quicksilver in a barometer tube.

The stomach, the skin, the nerves, the lungs, and the excretory organs are especially liable to be affected by these variations, and the best defense against their disastrous tendency is to keep the digestive machinery, which feeds and nourishes the whole system, in good working order.

If the stomach is weak or disordered neither the blood nor the bile can be in a healthy state, and the fitness of these two important fluids for the offices assigned to them by nature, and the regularity of their flow, health in a great measure depends.

When the air is heavily laden with chilling vapors, as it often is at this season of year, the digestion should be an object of peculiar care. If it is weak and languid the whole physical structure will be renovated. If it is vigorous, the entire organization will be strong to resist the untoward and depressing influence of a damp and vitiated atmosphere.

A pure and powerful tonic is therefore especially needed as a safeguard against the diseases most common in the spring, and Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the most wholesome and potent medicine of the class at present known, a course of it is particularly advisable at this period of the year.

The stomach will thereby be fortified and the nervous system braced up, and nature put in a state of active defense against the miasma which superinduces interminal fever, rheumatism, nervous debility, headache, hypochondria and other complaints which are apt to assail the untoward and unfortified organizations. The body is strong and healthy, without the brain, and consequently no unpleasant reaction follows its reviving and renovating operation.

Who Will Be Cured?

A LARGE majority of diseases are caused by a disordered stomach, and all those who have Dyspepsia, or any disorder of the stomach, and wish to cure themselves in a very short time, and at a trifling cost, can do so by sending One Dollar, to Dr. W. P. Brewitt, Elkton, Todd county, Ky., and he will send them the necessary instructions, and Indigestion and all nervous affections are caused by a disordered stomach.

The advertiser, having been restored to health in a few weeks, by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease Consumption, is anxious to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge), with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure Cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, etc. The object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and he is invaluable, and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing.

Bracken and Robertson.

The Maysville Bulletin is responsible for the following: Our neighboring counties of Bracken and Robertson have been having a little dispute about money matters of which the Legislature has lately taken cognizance. ### Temperance.

The Temperance meeting held at the Court House, on Monday evening last, was a complete success, so far as numbers were concerned, there being about 150 gentlemen and ladies present. It was confidently expected by the manager of the meeting, that Col. A. D. Smalley, G. W. P. of Ky., would be present and address the meeting; but a letter was received from him by the evening mail, informing them that sickness in his family prevented his being present. However, the meeting was called to order, after which W. W. Cleary, Esq., made a short address as to the merits and worthiness of the object for which the meeting was called, viz: The organization of a Temperance Society. An opportunity was then offered to all who wished to sign the pledge to become members of the Society; the result of which was the signature of six persons. On the adjournment of the meeting Mr. A. D. Robertson, in behalf of the members pledged himself to furnish a competent speaker to address the meeting to be held at the Court House next Wednesday night, March 16th. FEDERAL VICTORIES OVER THE INSURGENTS—TEMPORARY SUPPRESSION OF THE REBELLION.

CITY OF MEXICO, March 1.—VIA HAVANA March 7.—The government is celebrating the recent victories of General Escobedo, who defeated the San Luis insurgents. The city was entered by Governor Escandron on the 19th ult. Escobedo and other Generals, while pursuing the insurgents on the Guadalajara road, came up near Rocha on the 21st, with the insurgent General Garcia de Calens, and defeated him after an engagement of four hours.

A great many rebel officers and one thousand men were taken prisoners, and all the artillery captured. The fugitives went in the direction of Mechoacan. Colonel Meallido has defeated the pronouncers in the northern part of Sierra Puebla, and the Government troops have occupied important towns of the State of Zacatecas. Rebels in other quarters are surrendering, and those at Coahuila have been defeated.

General Comacho captured Jalapa after a short fight. The insurgents who held the city were commanded by a son of Santa Anna, who was finally seized by his own partisans and delivered to Comacho. The general impression was that the revolution was ended for the present, but the situation is still critical.—Commerce and industry are everywhere prostrated and famine is imminent in many parts of the country.
